Tax file number declaration

Information you provide in this declaration will allow your payer to work out how much tax to withhold from payments made to you.

— This is not a TFN application form.
To apply for a TFN, go to ato.gov.au/tfn

! Terms we use

When we say:

- payer, we mean the business or individual making payments under the pay as you go (PAYG) withholding system
- payee, we mean the individual being paid.

Who should complete this form?

You should complete this form before you start to receive payments from a new payer – for example:

- payments for work and services as an employee, company director or office holder
- payments under return-to-work schemes, labour hire arrangements or other specified payments
- benefit and compensation payments
- superannuation benefits.

! You need to provide all information requested on this form. Providing the wrong information may lead to incorrect amounts of tax being withheld from payments made to you.

- ! You don't need to complete this form if you:
- are a beneficiary wanting to provide your tax file number (TFN) to the trustee of a closely held trust. For more information, visit ato.gov.au/trustsandtfnwithholding
 - are receiving superannuation benefits from a super fund and have been taken to have quoted your TFN to the trustee of the super fund
 - want to claim the seniors and pensioners tax offset by reducing the amount withheld from payments made to you. You should complete a withholding declaration form (NAT 3093)
 - want to claim a zone, overseas forces or invalid and invalid carer tax offset by reducing the amount withheld from payments made to you. You should complete a withholding declaration form (NAT 3093).

> For more information about your entitlement, visit ato.gov.au/taxoffsets

Section A: To be completed by the payee

Question 1

What is your tax file number (TFN)?

You should give your TFN to your employer only after you start work for them. Never give your TFN in a job application or over the internet.

-  We and your payer are authorised by the Taxation Administration Act 1953 to request your TFN. It's not an offence not to quote your TFN. However, quoting your TFN reduces the risk of administrative errors and having extra tax withheld. Your payer is required to withhold the top rate of tax from all payments made to you if you do not provide your TFN or claim an exemption from quoting your TFN.

How do you find your TFN?

You can find your TFN on any of the following:

- your income tax notice of assessment
- correspondence we send you
- a payment summary your payer issues to you.

If you have a tax agent, they may also be able to tell you.

If you still can't find your TFN, you can:

- phone us on 13 28 61 between 8.00am and 6.00pm, Monday to Friday.

If you phone or visit us, we need to know we are talking to the correct person before discussing your tax affairs. We will ask you for details only you, or your authorised representative, would know.

You don't have a TFN

If you don't have a TFN and want to provide a TFN to your payer, you will need to apply for one.

For more information about applying for a TFN, visit ato.gov.au/tfn

You may be able to claim an exemption from quoting your TFN.

Print X in the appropriate box if you:

- have lodged a TFN application form or made an enquiry to obtain your TFN. You now have 28 days to provide your TFN to your payer, who must withhold at the standard rate during this time. After 28 days, if you haven't given your TFN to your payer, they will withhold the top rate of tax from future payments
- are claiming an exemption from quoting a TFN because you are under 18 years of age and do not earn enough to pay tax, or you are an applicant or recipient of certain pensions, benefits or allowances from the:
 - Department of Human Services – however, you will need to quote your TFN if you receive a Newstart, Youth or sickness allowance, or an Austudy or parenting payment
 - Department of Veterans' Affairs – a service pension under the Veterans' Entitlement Act 1986
 - Military Rehabilitation and Compensation Commission.

Providing your TFN to your super fund

Your payer must give your TFN to the super fund they pay your contributions to. If your super fund doesn't have your TFN, you can provide it to them separately. This ensures:

- your super fund can accept all types of contributions to your accounts
- additional tax will not be imposed on contributions as a result of failing to provide your TFN
- you can trace different super accounts in your name.

-  For more information about providing your TFN to your super fund, visit ato.gov.au/superelegibility

Question 2–6

Complete with your personal information.

Question 7

On what basis are you paid?

Check with your payer if you're not sure.

Question 8

Are you an Australian resident for tax purposes or a working holiday maker?

Generally, we consider you to be an Australian resident for tax purposes if you:

- have always lived in Australia or you have come to Australia and now live here permanently
- are an overseas student doing a course that takes more than six months to complete
- migrate to Australia and intend to reside here permanently.

If you go overseas temporarily and don't set up a permanent home in another country, you may continue to be treated as an Australian resident for tax purposes.

If you are in Australia on a working holiday visa (subclass 417) or a work and holiday visa (subclass 462) you must place an X in the working holiday maker box. Special rates of tax apply for working holiday makers.

-  For more information about working holiday makers, visit ato.gov.au/whm

If you're not an Australian resident for tax purposes or a working holiday maker, place an X in the foreign resident box, unless you are in receipt of an Australian Government pension or allowance.

Temporary residents can claim super when leaving Australia, if all requirements are met. For more information, visit ato.gov.au/departaustralia

Foreign resident tax rates are different

A higher rate of tax applies to a foreign resident's taxable income and foreign residents are not entitled to a tax-free threshold nor can they claim tax offsets to reduce withholding, unless you are in receipt of an Australian Government pension or allowance.

-  To check your Australian residency status for tax purposes or for more information, visit ato.gov.au/residency

Question 9

Do you want to claim the tax-free threshold from this payer?

The tax-free threshold is the amount of income you can earn each financial year that is not taxed. By claiming the threshold, you reduce the amount of tax that is withheld from your pay during the year.

Answer yes if you want to claim the tax-free threshold, you are an Australian resident for tax purposes, and one of the following applies:

- you are not currently claiming the tax-free threshold from another payer
- you are currently claiming the tax-free threshold from another payer and your total income from all sources will be less than the tax-free threshold.

Answer yes if you are a foreign resident in receipt of an Australian Government pension or allowance.

Answer no if none of the above applies or you are a working holiday maker.

- ! If you receive any taxable government payments or allowances, such as Newstart, Youth Allowance or Austudy payment, you are likely to be already claiming the tax-free threshold from that payment.
- > For more information about the current tax-free threshold, which payer you should claim it from, or how to vary your withholding rate, visit ato.gov.au/taxfreethreshold

Question 10

Do you have a Higher Education Loan Program (HELP), VET Student Loan (VSL), Financial Supplement (FS), Student Start-up Loan (SSL) or Trade Support Loan (TSL) debt?

Answer yes if you have a HELP, VSL, FS, SSL or TSL debt.

Answer no if you do not have a HELP, VSL, FS, SSL or TSL debt, or you have repaid your debt in full.

- ! You have a HELP debt if either:
 - the Australian Government lent you money under HECS-HELP, FEE-HELP, OS-HELP, VET FEE-HELP, VET Student loans prior to 1 July 2019 or SA-HELP.
 - you have a debt from the previous Higher Education Contribution Scheme (HECS).
- You have a SSL debt if you have an ABSTUDY SSL debt.
- You have a separate VSL debt that is not part of your HELP debt if you incurred it from 1 July 2019.
- > For information about repaying your HELP, VSL, FS, SSL or TSL debt, visit ato.gov.au/getloaninfo

Have you repaid your HELP, VSL, FS, SSL or TSL debt?

When you have repaid your HELP, VSL, FS, SSL or TSL debt, you need to complete a Withholding declaration (NAT 3093) notifying your payer of the change in your circumstances.

! Sign and date the declaration

Make sure you have answered all the questions in section A, then sign and date the declaration. Give your completed declaration to your payer to complete section B.

Section B: To be completed by the payer

- ! Important information for payers – see the reverse side of the form.

> Lodge online

Payers can lodge TFN declaration reports online if you have software that complies with our specifications.

For more information about lodging the TFN declaration report online, visit ato.gov.au/lodgetfndeclaration

Payer information

The following information will help you comply with your pay as you go (PAYG) withholding obligations.

— Is your employee entitled to work in Australia?

It is a criminal offence to knowingly or recklessly allow someone to work, or to refer someone for work, where that person is from overseas and is either in Australia illegally or is working in breach of their visa conditions.

People or companies convicted of these offences may face fines and/or imprisonment. To avoid penalties, ensure your prospective employee has a valid visa to work in Australia before you employ them. For more information and to check a visa holder's status online, visit the Department of Home Affairs website at homeaffairs.gov.au

Is your payee working under a working holiday visa (subclass 417) or a work and holiday visa (subclass 462)?

Employers of workers under these two types of visa need to register with the ATO, see ato.gov.au/whmreg

For the tax table "working holiday maker" visit our website at ato.gov.au/taxtables

Payer obligations

If you withhold amounts from payments, or are likely to withhold amounts, the payee may give you this form with section A completed. A TFN declaration applies to payments made after the declaration is provided to you. The information provided on this form is used to determine the amount of tax to be withheld from payments based on the PAYG withholding tax tables we publish. If the payee gives you another declaration, it overrides any previous declarations.

Has your payee advised you that they have applied for a TFN, or enquired about their existing TFN?

Where the payee indicates at question 1 on this form that they have applied for an individual TFN, or enquired about their existing TFN, they have 28 days to give you their TFN. You must withhold tax for 28 days at the standard rate according to the PAYG withholding tax tables. After 28 days, if the payee has not given you their TFN, you must then withhold the top rate of tax from future payments, unless we tell you not to.

If your payee has not given you a completed form you must:

- notify us within 14 days of the start of the withholding obligation by completing as much of the payee section of the form as you can. Print 'PAYER' in the payee declaration and lodge the form – see 'Lodging the form'.
- withhold the top rate of tax from any payment to that payee.

➤ For a full list of tax tables, visit our website at ato.gov.au/taxtables

Lodging the form

You need to lodge TFN declarations with us within 14 days after the form is either signed by the payee or completed by you (if not provided by the payee). You need to retain a copy of the form for your records. For information about storage and disposal, see below.

You may lodge the information:

- online – lodge your TFN declaration reports using software that complies with our specifications. There is no need to complete section B of each form as the payer information is supplied by your software.
- by paper – complete section B and send the original to us within 14 days.

➤ For more information about lodging your TFN declaration report online, visit our website at ato.gov.au/lodgetfndeclaration

Provision of payee's TFN to the payee's super fund

If you make a super contribution for your payee, you need to give your payee's TFN to their super fund on the day of contribution, or if the payee has not yet quoted their TFN, within 14 days of receiving this form from your payee.

Storing and disposing of TFN declarations

The TFN Rule issued under the Privacy Act 1988 requires a TFN recipient to use secure methods when storing and disposing of TFN information. You may store a paper copy of the signed form or electronic files of scanned forms. Scanned forms must be clear and not altered in any way.

If a payee:

- submits a new TFN declaration (NAT 3092), you must retain a copy of the earlier form for the current and following financial year.
- has not received payments from you for 12 months, you must retain a copy of the last completed form for the current and following financial year.

— Penalties

You may incur a penalty if you do not:

- lodge TFN declarations with us
- keep a copy of completed TFN declarations for your records
- provide the payee's TFN to their super fund where the payee quoted their TFN to you.

Withholding declaration

Instructions and form for taxpayers

A withholding declaration authorises your payer to adjust the amount of tax withheld from your payments.

Who should complete this form

Complete this form if:

- you want your payer to adjust the amount withheld from payments made to you
- you've completed a Tax file number declaration (NAT 3092) with your current payer and you now want to:
 - advise your payer if you become or stop being an Australian resident for tax purposes
 - claim or not claim the tax-free threshold
 - advise your payer of your Higher Education Loan Program (HELP), VET Student Loan (VSL), Financial Supplement (FS), Student Start-up Loan (SSL) or Australian Apprenticeship Support Loan (AASL) repayment obligations, or that you've repaid your loan in full
 - claim or vary your entitlement to a tax offset (including the seniors and pensioners tax offset [SAPTO]).

These instructions are current from 1 March 2025.

You must lodge a new declaration if either:

- you start to receive payments from a new payer and want them to adjust the amount withheld
- your circumstances change.

You need to provide all the information requested on this form.

Providing the wrong information may lead to incorrect amounts being withheld from payments made to you.

Varying your withholding

You may be eligible to reduce the amount of withholding or need to increase your withholding to meet your end of year tax liability.

Downward variation

The main purpose of varying or reducing the amount of withholding is to make sure that the amount withheld during the income year best meets your end-of-year tax liability.

You may want to apply for a variation if the normal rate of withholding leads to a large credit at the end of the income year because your tax-deductible expenses are higher than normal.

To apply, you must complete a PAYG withholding variation application (NAT 2036) online through myGov by going to your linked ATO online services.

If you're unable to lodge online, you need to complete a paper form and send it to us.

Upward variation

If you want to increase the rate or amount of withholding from your pay, you can arrange an upward variation with your payer by either:

- entering into an agreement with your payer – your request should be in writing and can be in any format
- completing your withholding declaration online through ATO online services.

For more information on varying your withholding, visit ato.gov.au/paygwvariation.

How to complete this form

Section A: Payee's declaration

To be completed by payee.

Question 1 and 2

Complete these questions by providing your personal information.

Questions 3

What is your tax file number (TFN)?

We and your payer are authorised by the Taxation Administration Act 1953 to request your TFN. You're not legally required to quote your TFN. However, quoting your TFN reduces the risk of administrative errors and having extra tax withheld.

Your payer is required to withhold the top rate of tax from all payments made to you if you don't provide your TFN or claim an exemption from quoting your TFN.

Where to find your TFN

If you already have a TFN, you can find it online through myGov by going to your linked ATO online services.

If you don't have a myGov account, you can usually find your TFN on:

- your income tax notice of assessment (NOA), if you have lodged a tax return
- letters you have received from us, such as a statement of account
- a payment summary or income statement (provided by your employer)
- your superannuation account statement.

If you use a registered tax agent, you can ask them for your TFN.

If you still can't find your TFN after checking these options, you can:

- phone us on 13 28 61 between 8:00 am and 6:00 pm, Monday to Friday
- complete a Tax file number – application or enquiry for individuals (NAT 1432) form.

If you phone us, we need to establish your identity before discussing or updating your tax record or one you're authorised for. We will ask you questions based on information we hold about you, including information from third parties and other government departments.

We may also ask to confirm details of identity documents such as your drivers licence, Medicare card or passport.

You may be able to claim an exemption from quoting your TFN.

Print 'X' in the appropriate box if you:

- have lodged a TFN application form or made an enquiry to obtain your TFN:
 - you now have 28 days to provide your TFN to your payer, who must withhold at the standard tax rate during this time
 - after 28 days, if you haven't given your TFN to your payer, they will withhold the top rate of tax from future payments.
- are claiming an exemption from quoting a TFN because you are either:
 - under 18 years old and don't earn enough to pay tax

- an applicant or recipient of certain pensions, benefits or allowances from one of:
 - Services Australia – however you need to quote your TFN if you receive Jobseeker, Youth Allowance, Austudy, or Parenting payment.
 - Department of Veterans' Affairs – a service pension under the Veterans' Entitlement Act 1986.
 - Military Rehabilitation and Compensation Commission.

For more information, visit ato.gov.au/TFN.

Questions 4

Are you an Australian resident for tax purposes or a working holiday maker?

Generally, we consider you to be an Australian resident for tax purposes if you:

- have always lived in Australia or you have come to Australia and live here permanently
- have been in Australia continuously for 6 months or more, and for most of that time you worked in the one job and lived at the same place
- have been in Australia for more than 6 months of the year, unless your usual home is overseas and you don't intend to live in Australia
- go overseas temporarily and you don't set up a permanent home in another country
- are an overseas student who has come to Australia to study and are enrolled in a course that is more than 6 months long.

If you are an Australian resident for tax purposes, print 'X' in the Australian resident box.

Working holiday maker

If you are in Australia on a working holiday visa (subclass 417) or a work and holiday visa (subclass 462) you must print 'X' in the working holiday maker box. Special rates of tax apply for working holiday makers.

If you're a working holiday maker, you must answer No to Question 5 – Do you want to claim the tax-free threshold from this payer?

For more information about working holiday makers, visit ato.gov.au/whm.

Foreign resident for tax purposes

If you're not an Australian resident for tax purposes or a working holiday maker, print 'X' in the foreign resident box, unless you are in receipt of an Australian Government pension or allowance.

Foreign resident tax rates are different

A higher rate of tax applies to a foreign resident's taxable income. Foreign residents are not entitled to the tax-free threshold nor can they claim tax offsets to reduce withholding, unless you are in receipt of an Australian Government pension or allowance.

If you're a foreign resident for tax purposes, you must answer No to Question 5 – Do you want to claim the tax-free threshold from this payer?

To work out your residency for tax purposes or for more information visit ato.gov.au/residency

Temporary residents can claim super when leaving Australia, if all requirements are met. For more information, visit ato.gov.au/departaustralia.

Questions 5

Do you want to claim the tax-free threshold from this payer?

The tax-free threshold is the amount of income you can earn each financial year that is not taxed. By claiming the threshold, you reduce the amount of tax that is withheld from payments made to you.

Answer Yes if you want to claim the tax-free threshold because you are an Australian resident for tax purposes and either:

- you are not currently claiming the tax-free threshold from another payer
- you are currently claiming the tax-free threshold from another payer and your total income from all sources will be less than the tax-free threshold.

Answer Yes if you are a foreign resident in receipt of an Australian Government pension or allowance.

Answer No if none of these applies or you are a working holiday maker.

If you receive any taxable government payments or allowances such as Jobseeker, Youth Allowance or Austudy, you are likely to be already claiming the tax free threshold from that payment.

For more information about the tax-free threshold or the payer you should claim it from:

- visit ato.gov.au/taxfreethreshold.

Question 6

Do you have a Higher Education Loan Program (HELP), VET Student Loan (VSL), Financial Supplement (FS), Student Start-up Loan (SSL) or Australian Apprenticeship Support Loan (AASL) debt?

Answer Yes if you have a HELP, VSL, FS, SSL or AASL debt.

Answer No if you do not have a HELP, VSL, FS, SSL or AASL debt, or you have repaid your debt in full.

For more information about HELP, VSL, FS, SSL or AASL debts:

- visit ato.gov.au/getloaninfo
- phone us on 13 28 61 between 8:00 am and 6:00 pm, Monday to Friday.

Question 7

Do you want to claim or vary your tax offset entitlement by reducing the amount withheld from payments made to you?

There are 2 categories of tax offsets:

- invalid or invalid carer tax offset
- zone or overseas forces tax offset.

For more information on calculating your tax offset entitlement:

- visit ato.gov.au/withholdingdecs
- phone us on 13 28 61 between 8:00 am and 6:00 pm, Monday to Friday.

You may end up with a tax debt at the end of the year if you overestimate your entitlement to any of these benefits.

If you can't estimate your entitlement to certain benefits for the year, you can claim it at the end of the financial year on your tax return.

Question 8

Do you want to claim the SAPTO by reducing the amount withheld from payments made to you?

Claim the tax offset from only one payer

You are not entitled to reduce your withholding amounts, or claim the SAPTO, with more than one payer at the same time.

If you receive income from more than one source and need help with this question, phone 1300 360 221 between 8:00 am and 6:00 pm, Monday to Friday.

How your income affects the amount of your tax offset

You must meet the eligibility conditions to receive SAPTO. Your rebate income, not your taxable income, determines the amount of SAPTO, if any, you will receive.

Answer Yes if you are eligible and choose to claim the SAPTO with this payer by reducing the amount withheld from payments made to you during the year.

For more information on eligibility for SAPTO:

- visit ato.gov.au/withholdingdecs
- phone us on 13 28 61 between 8:00 am and 6:00 pm, Monday to Friday.

Sign and date the Declaration

Make sure you have answered all questions in Section A, then sign and date the declaration.

Give the declaration to your payer so they can work out how much tax to withhold from payments they make to you.

Section B: Payer's declaration

To be completed by payer.

Payer obligations

If you withhold amounts from payments, or are likely to withhold amounts, your payee may give you this form with Section A completed. Information for Employers

If an employee doesn't return this form

If the ATO advises the employee does not have a stapled super fund, you can make the payment to your nominated default super fund. For more information, visit ato.gov.au/stapledsuperfund

You can choose any eligible super fund as your chosen fund for your employer to pay your super into. It's an important decision that can affect your retirement savings.

If you choose not to complete this form

If you are a new employee and choose not to complete this form, your employer will check with the ATO if you have an existing super fund. If you do, your super can be paid into this fund, called your 'stapled super fund'.

- If you have multiple funds the ATO will choose one of them as your stapled fund – it may not be the fund you would prefer.
- If the ATO is unable to identify a stapled fund, your employer will be advised to pay your super into their default super fund listed in Section C.
- If you started your current employment before 1 November 2021, your employer will pay your super into their default super fund listed in Section C.

Providing your TFN

You don't have to provide your TFN, but if your super fund does not have it, your super contributions may be taxed at a higher rate and you won't be able to make personal contributions to your fund.

Your TFN also makes it easier to keep track of any super accounts in your name so that you receive all your super when you retire.

Finding lost super

It is important to keep track of your super. If you've ever changed your name, address or job, you may have lost track of some of your super.

Having multiple super accounts could mean you are paying fees you are unaware of, which could reduce your retirement savings. Your super is your money, you should check it regularly.

If you have more than one super fund

Having more than one super account could mean you're paying multiple fees and charges, which may reduce your retirement savings. You can consolidate multiple accounts using our ATO online services through myGov.

Before you consolidate accounts, you may want to seek advice on fees this may incur or if you will lose any valuable insurance.

For more information, visit moneysmart.gov.au/how-life-insurance-works/insurance-through-super

Your privacy

This form is provided as a means for employees to provide necessary superannuation information to their employer. The ATO does not collect this information. An employer is authorised to collect their employee's TFN under the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993. It is not an offence for an employee not to quote their TFN. If an employee does not provide their superannuation fund details to their employer, the employer may request the information from the ATO.

For more information regarding employee privacy rights contact your superannuation fund.

Flexibility

After 12 months employment, you may have the right to make a written request for flexible working arrangements. This includes if you're pregnant, 55 or over, a carer, have a disability, are experiencing family and domestic violence, are supporting a member of your immediate family or household who is experiencing family and domestic violence, or are the parent of, or have caring responsibilities for, a child of school age or younger. Employers need to follow certain rules for responding to a request for flexible working arrangements, including responding in writing within 21 days. Find out more about the rules for flexible working arrangements at fairwork.gov.au/flexibility

You and your employer can also negotiate an individual flexibility arrangement. This would change how certain terms in your award or enterprise agreement apply to you. An individual flexibility arrangement must be a genuine choice, it can't be a condition of employment. The arrangement must leave you better off overall.

Right of entry

Union officials with an entry permit can enter the workplace to talk to workers that they're entitled to represent. They can also enter to investigate suspected safety issues or breaches of workplace laws.

They must comply with certain requirements, such as notifying the employer, and can inspect or copy certain documents. Strict privacy rules apply to the permit holder and their organisation. They also apply to your employer. The rules protect your personal information. Find out more about entry permits at fwc.gov.au/entry-permits

Agreement making

Employers and employees (or their representatives, like a union) can negotiate for an agreement for their workplace. This process is called 'bargaining' and must follow set rules. The Fair Work Commission checks and approves agreements.

For information about making, varying, or terminating an enterprise agreement visit fwc.gov.au/agreements

Transfer of business

If a transfer of business occurs, your employment with your old employer ends. If you're employed by the new employer within 3 months to do the same (or similar) job, some of your entitlements might carry over. This may happen if, for example, the business is sold or work is outsourced.

Find out about the rules for a transfer of business at fairwork.gov.au/transfer-of-business

Protections at work

All employees have protections at work. You can't be treated differently or worse because you have or exercise a workplace right. For example, the right to request flexible working arrangements, take leave, or make a complaint or enquiry about your employment.

You have the right to join a union or choose not to, and to take part in lawful industrial activity or choose not to.

You have the right to talk about (or not talk about) your current or past pay. You can also discuss the terms and conditions of employment that would be needed to work out your pay, such as your hours of work. You can also ask other employees about their pay and terms and conditions of employment, but they don't have to tell you.

You have protections when you're temporarily away from work due to illness or injury. You are also protected from discrimination, bullying, sexual harassment, coercion, misrepresentation, sham contracting, and undue influence or pressure. Find out more about your protections at work at fairwork.gov.au/protections

Ending employment

When your employment ends, your final pay should include all outstanding entitlements. This includes wages, unused annual leave and long service leave.

You may be entitled to notice of termination, or pay instead of notice. If you're dismissed for serious misconduct, you're not entitled to notice. If you resign you may have to give your employer notice. You can check if notice is required and what should be in your final pay.

If you think your dismissal was unfair or unlawful, you have 21 calendar days to lodge a claim with the Fair Work Commission. Rules and exceptions apply. Find out more about unfair dismissal at fwc.gov.au

Summary

This information statement is for casual employees. It has information about casual employment, including:

- ▶ the definition of a casual employee
- ▶ how a casual employee can notify their employer to change from casual to permanent (full-time or part-time) employment
- ▶ the reasons why an employer may not accept an employee's notification
- ▶ the role of the Fair Work Commission to deal with disputes.

Read this statement to find out more.

When should I get this statement?

The Casual Employment Information Statement needs to be given to new casual employees before they start employment, or as soon as possible after.

It also needs to be provided to all casual employees again after:

- ▶ 12 months of employment for casual employees of small businesses
- ▶ 6 months of employment, 12 months of employment, and every subsequent period of 12 months of employment for casual employees of non-small businesses.

Who is a casual employee?

You may be a casual if when you start employment:

- ▶ there is no firm advance commitment to ongoing work, taking into account a number of factors, including the real substance and true nature of the employment relationship; and
- ▶ you're entitled to a casual loading or specific casual pay rate under an award, registered agreement, or employment contract.

This requires consideration of the practical reality and true nature of the employment relationship, not just what is in the employment contract. You can also look at any additional mutual understandings or expectations about the relationship.

Employees who start as a casual will stay casual until their employment status changes either through:

- ▶ changing to permanent employment under the pathway in the National Employment Standards, a Fair Work instrument such as an award or enterprise agreement, or a Fair Work Commission order, or
- ▶ accepting an alternative employment offer and starting work on that basis.

Casuals employed before 26 August 2024

The definition of casual employee changed on 26 August 2024. If you were correctly classified as a casual before this date, then you are still casual under the new definition, unless you transition to permanent employment.

Family and domestic violence leave

Casual employees can take 10 days of paid family and domestic violence leave per year. For more information visit fairwork.gov.au/fdvleave

What is a 'firm advance commitment'?

To work out if there is a firm advance commitment to ongoing work, you'll need to consider if:

- ▶ your employer can offer or not offer work to you (and whether this is happening)
- ▶ you can accept or reject work (and whether this is happening)
- ▶ it's reasonably likely there will be future work available of the kind that you usually perform in the employer's business, based on the nature of the business
- ▶ you have a regular pattern of work
- ▶ there are full-time or part-time employees performing the same kind of work in the employer's business that you usually do.

There may also be other relevant factors. Not all factors need to be satisfied and there is no single deciding factor that determines whether you are casual or not. The practical reality and true nature of the employment relationship needs to be considered.

Example of no firm advance commitment

Priya starts a new role as a shop assistant. The shop owner has hired Priya to work during the Christmas period, when the shop is busier than normal, and they need extra staff.

Priya is offered shifts a week in advance and the shifts vary week-to-week based on how busy the store is. Priya can decide whether or not she wants to work the shifts, and her pay rate includes a casual loading. Towards the end of the Christmas period, business starts slowing down and Priya receives fewer shifts.

Priya is a casual employee because:

- ▶ there's no firm advance commitment to ongoing work
- ▶ she receives a casual pay rate.

Not sure if you're covered by an award or agreement?

Some awards and agreements have additional entitlements for casual employees.

How can I change from casual to permanent?

Eligible casual employees have the right to notify their employers in writing to change to permanent employment under the employee choice pathway in the National Employment Standards. An employer can only not accept the notification on particular grounds.

You're entitled to notify your employer if:

- ▶ you've been employed for at least 6 months (or 12 months if you work for a small business)
- ▶ you believe you're no longer meeting the definition of a casual employee
- ▶ you're not currently engaged in a dispute with your employer about changing to permanent employment under this pathway
- ▶ during the last 6 months:
 - you haven't resolved a dispute with your employer about the pathway
 - your employer hasn't refused a previous notification under this pathway.

Note: Sometimes casual employees work a regular pattern of hours. This doesn't mean they're permanent.

What you need to do

If you're eligible and want to notify your employer to change to permanent, make the request in writing.

What your employer needs to do

If they're accepting the change, they must respond in writing within 21 days of receiving your notification. They must also consult with you about the following matters, which have to be included in the response:

- ▶ what your new employment status will be (for example, full-time or part-time)
- ▶ your new hours of work
- ▶ when the change will take effect (which must be the first day of your first full pay period that starts after the response, unless you and your employer agree to another day).

If they're not accepting the change, they need to consult with you and tell you the reasons why in writing within 21 days of receiving your notification.

An employer can only not accept a notification to change to permanent if any of the following apply:

- ▶ the employee still meets the definition of a casual employee
- ▶ accepting the change means the employer isn't complying with a recruitment or selection process required by law
- ▶ there are fair and reasonable operational grounds for not accepting it, such as:
 - substantial changes to the way that work within the business is organised would be required
 - there would be significant impacts on the operation of the employer's business
 - substantial changes to employment conditions would be reasonably necessary to ensure the employer doesn't break rules (such as in an award or agreement) that would apply to the employee.

⚠ Important

Under the National Employment Standards, all notifications and responses about an employee's choice to change to permanent employment must be in writing. 'In writing' can include handwritten, printed, and electronic formats.

What if my employer disagrees with me about changing to permanent?

If you and your employer disagree about changing to permanent employment, including the rules and requirements for changing from casual to permanent employment, there are steps you can take to resolve it.

- ✓ Step 1: In the first instance, you and your employer must try to resolve the dispute by discussions at the workplace level. You can use our free online courses linked below to help you do this. If you're covered by an award or enterprise agreement, you can also follow the process that it sets out for dealing with disputes about the National Employment Standards.
- ✓ Step 2: If discussions at the workplace level don't resolve the dispute, either you or your employer can refer the dispute to the Fair Work Commission. The Fair Work Commission may deal with the dispute as it considers appropriate. This can include by mediation, conciliation, or by other informal ways.
- ✓ Step 3: If the dispute still isn't resolved, the Fair Work Commission is able to arbitrate the dispute. This is a formal process and can result in a legally binding decision (for example, at a hearing). During arbitration, the Fair Work Commission can also make orders relating to an employee's choice about casual employment including that the employee continues to be treated as a casual employee or that the employee be treated as a permanent employee.

Depending on your circumstances, you may be able to have someone to support or represent you through the dispute process. This could include a union entitled to represent you.

Can my employer avoid following the rules?

Your employer can't do certain things to avoid their obligations or your right to change from casual to permanent employment, such as reducing or varying your hours of work, changing your pattern of work, or terminating your employment. These are called the anti-avoidance protections.

If your employer does any of these things, it may also be adverse action. You are protected against your employer taking adverse action against you because you have or exercised a workplace right (which includes notifying your employer to change from casual to permanent employment). If unlawful adverse action is found to have occurred, civil penalties could apply. For more information, visit fairwork.gov.au/protections
